Welcome

Welcome to the 10th annual Chelmsford City Showcase for Business. This event is hosted and organised by Chelmsford City Council's Economic Development & Implementation team and is designed to equip you with the necessary tools to start, grow and sustain your business.

The Chelmsford Business Board start the day with their annual business briefing where you can find out more about forthcoming developments in the district. Nick Eveleigh, Chief Executive Chelmsford City Council and Highways England will give respective updates. Mayor of Chelmsford, Cllr Yvonne Spence will then officially open the event at 10am.

There are two excellent seminar sessions mid-morning, covering the subjects of brand identity and managing business growth, along with over 50 trade stands for you to visit across the Grand Pavilion and Hylands House throughout the day.

Inside the main house this year you can visit our professional photographer to get a free headshot, whilst meeting several local businesses profiled to demonstrate the diverse range of talent which operates here.

Throughout the day there will be the opportunities to network with fellow business people and seek advice from experts, and don't forget to join us for tea and cake during a special 10th year celebration ‘Happy Hour’ at 2.30pm.

I hope you enjoy the day and wish to thank you and all of our contributors, for continuing to support the Chelmsford City Showcase for Business.

Councillor Neil Gulliver,
Cabinet Member for Planning and Economic Development,

Every business needs a unique identity to influence customer behaviour and how they respond to your business. Graham Broughton of The Consortium, will deliver this session on the importance of creating and managing your business as a brand. Drawing on his own experience as a Brand manager with over 30 years experience, Graham will also share guidance imparted by other members of The Consortium, who together own over 200 years of real life business experience.

Dan Hull from award-winning Dan Hull Prepared Foods, will give an insight into the company’s journey from farm shop to Oxford Street. He will talk about how managing a growing business requires dedication, innovation and a great team. Hear how production was moved to bigger premises, new products were introduced, and quality remains key.
We are a transient city, with a daily ebb and flow, which can leave us lacking in identity and without a sense of community.

Whilst observing the retail development of the City centre – a real success story it has become apparent that while global companies are adding enormous value to our local economy, more work can be done to support our independent, creative, cultural and social enterprises and entrepreneurs.

Through pictures and interviews we are starting to uncover and provide a snapshot of the people and small businesses that call Chelmsford home. This is not a marketing exercise, but a social history project to capture the fine grain and texture of our community. Publishing stories to highlight hidden gems and provide a new face for Chelmsford City.

See some of those stories brought to life in the main house during the event.

Chelmsford Star Co-operative Society has served the Essex Community since 1867 and has 40 convenience food stores across the region.

As a community retailer, one of their priorities is to work alongside Essex-based businesses and organisations, nurturing mutual prosperity and success. A recent report indicated that for every £100 spent at a local co-operative an additional £40 is generated for local customers and suppliers. So, they believe that stocking items that are 'made in Essex' makes good sense.

Visit the Chelmsford Star Co-op stand to find out how local products are sourced for Co-op stores, and experience a variety of suppliers to 'The Only Way is Local' Campaign.
